BELL'S SUITS.

The First Trial of Stephens and Thornton

For Alleged Criminal Libel of Horace Bell Begins.

That Famous Pamphlet, "Life of Horace Bell," Once More.

Why Mrs. Bell Became Insane—McArthur Hears Her Say, "Horace Bell, You Go to Hell"—Some Language Which Makes Bell Handle His Cane Nervously.

The celebrated case of The People against A. M. Thornton and B. A. Stephens was called for trial in Judge O'Melveny's court at 11:30 yesterday morning. Hon. C. C. Stephens, Gen. G. Gordon Adams and Mr. Finlayson appeared for the defense, and Assistant District Attorney George J. Denis and W. T. Williams for The People. The courtroom was crowded with witnesses and jurors.

Mr. Denis read the complaint, which charged the defendants with having libeled Horace Bell in having published and caused to be circulated certain words to the effect that Horace Bell was so violently abusive to his wife that she was committed to the Stockton Insane Asylum for a while. This objectionable article was published on the 23d day of February, 1887.

The following jury was sworn to try the cause: A. W. Neighbors, James H. Egan, J. Weil, A. H. Kercheval, D. Botiller, G. W. McGarry, J. B. Cook, J. G. Reed, C. C. Cook, J. H. Martin, A. W. Burke and M. H. Kimball.

The court then took a recess until 1:30 o'clock p.m., but it was 2 o'clock before the court got into working order.

On taking the bench Judge O'Melveny stated to counsel that he would insist on gentlemanly conduct and harmonious manners during the trial of the cause. He further informed them that he would not allow them to go outside of the principal questions in the case.

Before a witness could answer the first question the defense asked that the witnesses under the rule be excluded from the courtroom, with the exception of Maj. Bell.

H. W. Hellman testified: I knew Horace Bell in 1870. I was going up to San Francisco on a steamer, and I then met them. It was in April. I met a lady, who was out of her head and crazy, and they told me that she was Maj. Bell's wife, and that sickness had caused this insanity. I met them some four months after that walking on the street. I do not know what Maj. Bell's treatment of his wife was.

Cross-examined: Mrs. Bell was crazy. I did not have any conversation with any one who was with her except the Major.

W. Cobler testified: I am a printer. [Looking at objectionable pamphlet.] I saw two pages of this book. I saw them in the Pomona Times-Courier office. Young Overshiner brought them in. He is a brother-in-law of Mr. Stephens. Overshiner took the book back to the Progress office, where he was employed. Stephens was running the Pomona Progress at that time. I talked to Stephens and he said he had a book about Bell that he wanted to publish. I did not set up this title page of this book, but I set up another one which had more matter on it. It was about Bell, and Stephens handed it to me. The pages, 7 and 14, in this pamphlet, are the same that I saw in the Times-Courier office.

William Ferguson testified: Have resided here since 1869. I was on the steamer when Maj. Bell went to San Francisco with his wife in April, 1870. His treatment of his wife was good, so far as I remember. His treatment since then has been kind and considerate, so far as I know. They were going North because Mrs. Bell was kind of out of her mind. Maj. Bell was in charge of her. I did not see any one else.

J. H. Lee testified: I am one of the publishers of the Pomona Times-Courier. [Looking at pamphlet.] No, sir; I never saw this, nor any portion of it. No pamphlet of this kind was ever printed in my office to my knowledge. I never saw it until just now. A couple of pages were struck off in the office, but I don't know their contents.

C. E. Sumner testified: I am an attorney at Pomona, and am connected with the Times-Courier as one of its proprietors. I have seen one of the pages of this pamphlet. A boy was trying to print page seven on our job press. I don't know the boy and have not seen him since. It was just before the G. A. R. encampment. The boy said that Stephens had only given him twenty minutes to do the job.

E. Vallecott testified: I was in the Progress office at Pomona, and Mr. Stephens was then its editor. [Looking at pamphlet.] I worked on this book. I did the work under Mr. Overshiner's instructions. He was employed by Mr. Stephens. I saw Stephens handing copy to other printers. He gave me the copy just as he would any other copy. I am not sure whether it was in Stephens's hand-writing or not, but it looked like it.

C. H. Keeney testified: I am a printer, and I resided at Pomona in March, I think. I was working at the NATURAL GAS.

ITS ECONOMY IN MANUFACTURING.

Its Luxury in Domestic Use—Strong Points Presented by the Business Men's Committee of Toledo, O.—Profits of Manufacturers.

[Toledo Commercial.]

The problem facing manufacturers both in Europe and America at present is not that of getting better prices for their products, but of making a profit by close economy in their manufacturing expenses. These expenses have been reduced by using improved machinery, and by closer care over the many items incident to all manufacturing expenses. In this new country of ours, where often the settler could do nothing better with wood than burn it in the field needed for the plow, we saw the time come when the manufacturer using wood for fuel could no longer compete with him who used coal. The cheap coal fields have steadily attracted furnaces, and the railroad development of the country being ahead of the actual demands of business, there has been cutting in rates which, though suicidal to the stockholders, has swept away local disadvantages and counteracted distances. The general adandonment of wood for coal marked an epoch in all manufacturing industries, but we stand today at the threshold of a more important and far-reaching upheaval by the substitution of petroleum and natural gas both for domestic use and in manufacturing.

OIL FOR FUEL.

The popular impression prevails that oil and grinding monopoly are synonymous terms, but the drill, sinking into the bowels of the earth, shows that he who would control the oil product of the world must be greater than Cæsar or Napoleon; he must control the whole earth and pay for it in hard cash. New oil fields are daily discovered, today in Russia, yesterday in Egypt, and tomorrow we know not where. No combination can control the product of the world, and so much more is produced than is needed in a refined state that it must find a market for itself as fuel. The Ohio crude oil is a drug in the market at 30 cents per barrel, and the inventive genius of the country is studying processes for using this fuel to the safest and best advantage. It may safely be said, as it truthfully can be done, that when a barrel of oil, costing 30 cents, will take the place of a ton of coal, and with absolute safety, the day of its general substitution for coal is very close at hand.

NATURAL GAS AS FUEL.

Yet, cheap and perfect as crude oil may be for fuel, there is a small section of the country where it can find no favor. Surpassing coal, as oil does, as greatly as coal surpasses wood, it is in turn so much inferior to natural gas as not to be worthy of consideration in the same field. Gas is the ideal fuel, and its use strikes from the pay-roll of every factory a long list of heavy expenses, from horses carting coal, teamsters, laborers, firemen, down to the man who wheels out the cinders and ashes. It does away with monthly expense bills of grate bars and fire brick, and when used in furnaces for reducing metals sends out a product much increased in value in the markets. It cannot, like coal, be shipped to all parts of the land. It cannot, like oil, be barreled or piped a long distance. It must be used in the territory that it blesses with its presence, and they who would avail themselves of its beneficent advantages must say to it, in the words of Ruth, "Thy country shall be my country."

NATURAL GAS NO NEW THING.

Natural gas appears at first sight to contradict Solomon's claim that "there is nothing new under the sun," but investigation proves that Solomon, even in natural gas, was right. In China, where they know so much and put their knowledge to such little advantage, natural gas has been in use for centuries, being taken from wells over 3000 feet deep, and piped through bamboo rods. A gas well in France that was burning in the days of Cæsar is burning today. At Fredonia, N. Y., it was used commercially since 1821, and has been in general use at Olean, Tidioute and other towns in the oil regions for fifteen years and more. Its first use in iron working was at Leechburg, Pa., in 1873, and in glass-making at Rochester, Pa., and plate-glass at Creighton, Pa., in 1883. In Ohio, salt was boiled with it, at East Liverpool, in 1880, and it was used later there in burning pottery.

NORTHERN OHIO GAS.

In Northern Ohio natural gas has been known since Hancock county was first settled. In digging wells, cisterns, sewers, in spring and rock crevices, inflammable gas has been constantly found during the last fifty years, and has been utilized in a small way. Gas was introduced into one house in 1838, and has been used there ever since. The gas was absorbed by the water of the wells and springs, which was made in many cases unfit, or at least unpleasant, for use. Explosions frequently occurred in wells, sewers and other excavations by reason of the accumulation of gas. These facts were familiar to every one, and the presence of gas was looked upon as an evil to be endured, or as a nuisance that could not easily be abated. In 1884 the first organized attempt was made to drill for gas in this section, and high-pressure gas was found in porous limestone rock 1100 feet below the surface of the town. The gas came with force enough to run an engine when turned into it instead of steam. When lighted from a standpipe it was visible on all sides a distance of ten or fifteen miles. Other wells were at once projected and the gas soon brought into varied use. Since then the earth has been punctured in this section until it is like a sieve, and the circumscribed limits of the gas and oil territory plainly defined. This area covers a small circle less than fifty miles in diameter, and in this territory Toledo, the commercial center, will control four-fifths of the gas lands. Two companies are now piping her streets, having a combined capital of five and one-half million dollars, and to this city, with her grand water and railroad facilities, cheap ore and other raw materials, manufacturers are turning their eyes. Nowhere else are united low freights, cheaper raw materials, and this cheapest of all fuels; and these in the heart of the section where a great bulk of manufactured goods are consumed.

VALUE OF A WELL.

To give some idea of the value of the gas territory owned by the Toledo companies, let us take the Simons well, one of the largest in the State. This well has the capacity, as shown by actual measurement, of 12,400,000 feet of gas per day. For heating purposes 12,000 feet of gas are equivalent to one ton of the best bituminous coal. So that the daily product of this one well is equal to 1033 tons of coal; 7231 tons per week; 376,012 per year! One well is supposed to draw from a territory of but eight acres, and the two Toledo companies control by lease or purchase over 50,000 acres of tested gas lands in this vicinity.

COST TO CONSUMERS.

The cost of gas to consumers is one rarely needing to be discussed, as the story is better told under the head of the saving by gas. Perhaps no better illustration of this can be shown than by taking the Maumee rolling-mill, of Toledo, with an output of fifty tons of iron per day. This mill's bill for coal was $200 per day. The wages of men to handle the coal, to cart away the cinders, the expense of replenishing grate-bars and fire-brick, would make the actual cost of fuel account with coal $5.25 per ton of iron produced. The gas company's price to them is $1.90 per ton. The difference in these two accounts shows a profit of $157.50 per day, or over $50,000 per year, being 10 per cent. on the capital of the rolling-mill company. What competitor using coal can hold his own with this company? The price of gas in Toledo will be as low as in Pittsburgh; and an onlooker so far away as the Springfield (Mass.) Republican says, pithily: "Toledo will rival Pittsburgh in natural gas, while having much better water communication."

CHEAP RAW MATERIAL.

Pittsburgh supports three railroads in bringing raw materials to her to be manufactured. Toledo is in the heart of the lumber region, with iron ore, both hard and soft, meeting here on the docks. The three items of importance to glassmakers, fuel, sand and lumber, she supplies at better rates than anywhere in the land. Glass factories that can see but one thing at a time go inland for a cheaper fuel, and pay three times the amount they have saved in increased cost of sand and lumber. Toledo has within her own limits the finest quarries of glass sand within the United States; so superior is it that it is taken by rail to Pittsburgh, Wheeling and Bellaire, freight charges being more than the cost of the sand. For distributing manufactured goods Toledo has seventeen main lines of railroads and water communication with all the world.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

No man, be he wise or simple, can say how long this wonderful product of gas will continue. The laboratory is hid so deep that no prying eyes have yet disclosed its secrets. We simply know that gas is found in one locality, and is not in another. We know of many wells that after a time are worthless; we cannot say but that all wells may follow this precedent in course of time. Because of this the manufacturer, who ignores all other advantages but this one, is not wise. If the supply of gas should fail, leaving him in a small inland town, he would be an object of pity with gods and men. And for this reason Toledo emphasizes the fact that, though she has natural gas, still, if gas should fail, she has cheap coal, cheap raw material, and the best freight facilities on the great chain of lakes.

FOR DOMESTIC USE.

As a home comfort natural gas is the perfection of fuel. No dust, no ashes; carpets, curtains and ceilings are saved; uniformity of temperature secured, insuring freedom from colds and other complaints due to the alterations of heat and cold. No cellar to be filled with dusty coal, no broken backs from lifting, no trouble with kindlings on a cold morning; only the lighting of a match, the turning of a cock—behold the fire! When only a spark of fire is wanted the amount can be regulated to a nicety, and the fire shut off the moment the kettle boils or the iron is heated.

Is the picture a pleasant one? Can you see no advantages in bringing your shop or factory here with us? We have upwards of 80,000 citizens to welcome you and offer a helping hand. In behalf of the business men of the city we extend you a cordial invitation to cast your lot with us, assuring you that "we will do you good."

COPPER.

Elsinore Comes Up Smiling with a New Find.

[Elsinore News.]

Messrs. Snody, Summers and Jones, of this place, had been prospecting for some time, when they came suddenly upon slight signs of copper in small croppings. They commenced to dig, and, at twenty feet below the surface, struck a four-foot vein of carbonites of copper and blue copper, specimens of which we have in our office. They have developed the vein twenty feet, and there is no question as to its being a sure copper mine, equal to the richest mines of Arizona and New Mexico. It has been assayed for copper, and resulted in 40 per cent. pure copper, although it run as high as 90 per cent. It is believed to be rich in gold and silver, and samples have been sent to the Argo works at Denver for analysis. There is a suspicion that Messrs. Snody, Summers and Jones have unexpectedly stumbled upon the gold and silver mine for the discovery of which there was a prize offered of $10,000. Many have searched for it, it being established to the satisfaction of old miners, by the finding of numerous "floats" in the valley, that one of the richest gold and silver veins in the world was located somewhere in the surrounding mountains. Thus far the search has been in vain. The find is a most important one. Unlike most mines, it is easily accessible, as it can be driven to in a buggy, is near the railroad, to which the pig copper, if reduced at the mines, could be conveyed at a small expense. The ore could be shipped to San Francisco via San Diego as ballast for vessels at a minimum cost, or if deemed best to erect works at the mines, the ores could be reduced on the grounds, thanks to our coal deposits, at an expense of say $10 per ton. At 8 cents a pound, the lowest price copper has ever reached, the pig copper would be worth $64. The gold and silver will be clear profit. There is no question as to the copper—it is a sure copper mine—the vein four feet thick and extending straight into the mountain. There is considerable excitement here in consequence of the find, and a company will be organized at once to commence operations and probably to erect smelters, etc., on the ground.

"So your father was in the war?" said he.

"Yes, he was killed at the battle of Bull Run," she replied.

While Jay Gould was traveling on the Wabash system he stopped over for dinner at a little town in Southern Illinois. The party ate some eggs, among other things, and when the bill was presented to Gould it contained the item, "One dozen eggs, $1.80." The great railroad magnate remarked that eggs must be at a premium in that section, to which the restaurant-keeper replied: "No, sir; eggs are plenty enough; but Jay Goulds are mighty scarce."—[Buffalo Courier.

On the Lansing train the other day an old man shoved up a window as the locomotive whistled for a crossing, and stuck half his body out to see what the row was about. The brakeman happened to pass through the car, and seeing the situation, he said:

"Better take your head in, sir."

"Why?"

"Because you might strike a post or switch."

"Y-e-s, that's so," muttered the man, as he pulled himself in and sat down, "and the railroad would hop onto me for damages. It's better to be on the safe side."—[Detroit Free Press.

The Professor received the epistle and wrote on a postal card:

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

A Disgrace.

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Permit me the use of a small space in your journal to call the attention of the proper authorities to an intolerable nuisance—the shameful conduct of individuals, who nightly disturb the sleep of residents on North Main street, between Commercial street and the St. Elmo Hotel. The performance, consisting of whooping, shouting and uttering all sorts of filthy language, commences about 10 o'clock and continues until 3. It is a disgrace to the city, and, being in the vicinity of three hotels, will make anything but a favorable impression upon strangers visiting here. M.

Two Paths.

A path across the meadow fair and sweet,
Where clover-blossoms the lithesome grasses greet,
A path worn smooth by his impetuous feet.

A straight, swift path—and at its end a star
Gleaming behind the lilac's fragrant bar,
And her soft eyes, more luminous by far.

A path across the meadow fair and sweet,
Still sweet and fair, where blooms and grasses meet—
A path worn smooth by his reluctant feet!

A long, straight path—and at its end a gate,
Behind whose bars she doth in silence wait
To keep the tryst, if he comes soon or late!

Special Announcement.

The first advance in the price of Ivanhoe lots was made June 1st, as per advertisement for several months. For various good reasons, some of the lots were left at the original prices for another month; but most of them have been advanced 20 to 50 per cent. Even at advanced prices it is the best property offered for the money anywhere around Los Angeles, and buyers should choose their lots before the next advance, which will be made in July. The sale of lots in May was larger than in any previous month, and the end of June will find most of the lots sold. All who see Ivanhoe agree that it is the best property for the least money that can be found. The water system and the dummy road will both be ready by July, and many houses will be built in the next two months. If you want a first-class, large lot, for a small sum of money, come at once. FRENCH WITHOUT A MASTER.

Experiences in Paris with the Language as Learned in Haddam.

[Special Correspondence.]

PARIS, May 20.

Opened fire on Paris in "French Without a Master." Learned it in youth at a Connecticut academy—Patois, of East Haddam. Teacher could "learn me anything" so long as I studied it first and he heard me "say the lesson" afterward. Tried East Haddam French first on a Parisian cabman. Red vest very long, shiny hat, rattletrap cab, skeleton horse. Cabman fired back at me in French used in Paris. Couldn't make it out. Showed cabman my guide book. Pointed toward 57 Rue Bonaparte, where I wanted to go. Guide book said that was number of Hotel de France. Cabman shook his head. Talked, talked and talked. Couldn't make him out; nor he me, either. Got in cab. Told him to drive. He drove. Brought up at last at mean looking house in mean looking street. Enter lady from house speaking Hibernian English. Praised her house. Said it was the very place I was looking for. Told her it wasn't. Told cabman sternly to drive me to 57 Rue Bonaparte. Grand display of shoulder shrugging by cabman. Evidently felt I was not to be trifled with. Saw that a man who could murder French as I did was capable of murdering anybody. Reached 57 Rue Bonaparte. No Hotel de France there. Big clothing store instead. Cabman pointed to it with an air of "I told you so." Understood then why so much gab on his part. Wanted to tell me the Hotel de France was non est. Affected air of knowing indifference. Wanted to appear posted to cabman. No go. Cabman knew me for a greenhorn, and I knew he knew me for one. Got out. Paid cabman three times too much. Put out. Didn't know where. Didn't care. Turned first corner I came to. What for? To get out of sight of that infernal cabman, who stood and grinned after me as only a Parisian cabman can grin. Walked down street some distance. Turned. Walked back. Peeped round corner. Infernal cabman gone. Felt better. Met policeman. Carried sword. Never uses it. More blood drawn officially in New York with police club and pistols in a month than in Paris in ten years. Asked policeman in signs to point direction to Boulevard Sebastopol. Had directions there from friend for lodgings. Hoped policeman would do nothing but point, and not talk. Too much to hope for from a Frenchman. Will talk on least provocation. No matter whether you understand them or not. So did policeman. Talked and pointed and pointed and talked. Pointed north, south, east, west. Northeast by north and south southeast. Boxed the compass and talked for fifteen minutes. Listened and replied "Oui, monsieur," every ninety seconds. Had that amount of French down solid and used it every chance I got. Policeman talked himself out and left. No more idea of where Boulevard Sebastopol was than before. Afraid to try any more policemen. Too much avalanche of talk and slinging around of arms. Wandered around loose. Stumbled on the boulevard at last. Best plan when you don't know what to do. Do nothing. Let things come around of themselves. Engaged room on top floor of house. Seven stories. Top floor—full of working girls. Grisettes. Home at night with bunch of charcoal in one hand and bundle of maccaroni in the other. For supper. All cook on one stove. Nothing but a platform with rows of shallow holes in it. No fires in their rooms from year's end to year's end. Climate raw from October till May. Floors of brick tiles, damp and moldy. Shoes covered with green mold in three weeks. Fuel too expensive for the poor. Wood sold by the pound. Cent a pound. Burned wood in my room. Girls awed at my extravagance. Never such before seen in that house. Costs me forty cents a day to keep comfortable. French people generally a rheumaticked and lumbagoed set. Warmth sought by bundling on clothes. Bandaged jaws, faces and ears stuffed with cotton on every side. Insane fear of fresh air and draughts. To open a window in omnibus or street car creates general alarm among passengers. Any scent in the air endured so long as the air is warm.

A COIL OF WIRE.

How It is Made from What is Technically Known as a "Bloom."

[Special Correspondence.]

PITTSBURG, June 6.

How are large cakes or lumps of steel made into fine wire? The process is interesting. How do the steel blooms become finely polished wire? The manufacture is peculiar. The bloom, as we follow it in the wire factory, is first cut into billets some twenty inches long and four inches square. These are brought red hot from the furnaces and slipped between the rolls. In a moment the billet of steel becomes a stout, fibery serpent. A man at the opposite side of the roll nips it around the neck with his tongs, and slips its head between the next and smaller pair of rolls, so that before the tail of the red serpent has emerged from between the larger rolls, the head has been squeezed to smaller dimensions in the second rolls. The same process is repeated again after the rod has passed through the second roll, a workman being ready to seize the serpent, twist its body around and let its head be caught by the third roll. Thus it is passed on, each time becoming longer and thinner, and the billet, after passing through eighteen rolls, becomes a wire rod.

As the rod passes through the last roll it is conveyed through a pipe three inches in circumference. As it wriggles out of the pipe in twisted form it is thrown across the iron floor of the factory or wire mill. The rolls are kept constantly at work, for one rod has no sooner passed through the first roll than another enters it, and as the rod grows in length one end may be passing out across the floor while the other is half a dozen rolls in the rear. Thus it twists its dull red th ead like length like a serpent in and out of the rolls, often near the ankles of the workmen ready with their tongs to guide it onward in its devious windings. When the rod is at last spun out upon the floor, the end is taken up and twisted upon a reel, which rapidly winds it into a coil.

After the rods leave the "blooming mill" they are taken to the "wire mill," where they are hung around wooden blocks, perhaps half a dozen coils on each block, which are lowered into huge tubs of liquid sulphuric acid, and allowed to remain there until the acid has removed the impurities from the surface. The blocks are then raised by a pulley, and the rods are thrown upon the floor and washed with the hose. Having been loaded on trucks and dried, one end of each rod is pointed by a revolving machine so as to pass into the die which is to draw the rod into wire. Having been removed to the wire blocks, the rods are then drawn by being passed through a tapering hole in a steel die.

The steel rod, having thus been transformed into wire, is taken to the annealing furnace, where it is annealed and polished by a secret process. The wire, which has hitherto been of a dull brown color, is given a bright polish by the annealing, and the cleaning which it afterward receives. Having been removed to the galvanizing house the wire is run over a series of wheels and slides which stretch it from the floor horizontally, and, working automatically, dips the wire in lime every time it reaches the floor. In galvanizing the process consists of the wire passing through a solution of muriatic acid and gravel, next through a drying furnace, and afterward through a metal bath of zinc. The wire next passes a "wiping box," filled with mineral wool which is agitated by a number of rollers. This substance wipes off the surplus zinc and lestows upon the wire a smooth surface. The long line of wire, which now has a bright, silvery appearance, is then bundled up in reels ready for the market, each reel weighing about 100 pounds.

It is said that London is to have a "hygienic restaurant," where dyspeptics will dine. When they enter they will tell their symptoms to one of the attendant doctors, who will plan out proper dinners for them, which they will then proceed to [illegible] prescribed manner.—Chicago [illegible]

BURTON MOUND,

A Seaside Hotel Resort at Santa Barbara.

IN SEEKING FOR A PLACE TO erect a large hotel to accommodate tourists and other guests, perhaps none can be found combining more attractions than the "Burton Mound." Situated at the foot of the long, gentle slope on which the city of Santa Barbara lies, the 28-acre tract called "Seaside Hotel Property" has the advantage of a mound, which comprises about three acres, rising above the surrounding lands to the height of twenty feet. This mound rises gradually, and is sufficiently level on top to admit of large buildings, with cottages surrounding. While in the city, it seems in the country. It is one tier of blocks from the busiest street and wharf, and runs down to tidewater, with a wide, smooth beach in front. No miasmatic swamps are near. The temperature is warm in winter and cool in summer. Temperature of ocean water varies but eight degrees in the whole year. Ocean bathing is practiced by many the whole year round. It holds in view the ocean, mountains, foothills, islands and beautiful valleys of Carpinteria and Montecito. The Old Mission Church is seen in the northwest, and the beautiful grounds and mansion of Mr. Dibblee on the high lands adjacent.

A spring of sulphur water bubbles up on one side of the mound, and another in which iron predominates springs from the other side, so that baths of these two, and of the ocean water as well, and baths of pure, cold, soft water may be had at trifling expense.

☞ This choice and desirable site for a seaside hotel is for sale. Inquiries may be made in person or by letter of any of the following stockholders or directors:

DR. J. B. SHAW,
MILO SAWYER,
FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF SANTA BARBARA.
THOMAS B. DIBBLEE,
BENJAMIN BURTON,
FRISSIUS & HERNSTEIN,
ESTATE OF COL. W. W. HOLLISTER,
Directors of Seaside Hotel Association of Santa Barbara.

BEAUTIFUL BURTON MOUND!

HYDE PARK!

Look where you will in the vicinity of the city of Los Angeles, in search either of lots or acre property, for charming homes, and the best judgments will be convinced at a glance as to the difficulty of finding a location for a town so beautiful, such pure and bracing air, and smooth, rich lands as characterizes Hyde Park. This splendid townsite is located on the line of the California Central, of the A., T. & S. F. system, which is to connect Los Angeles with the new harbor at La Ballona, and is distant 7½ miles from the center of the city; a midway town between the city and the harbor. Trains are to be running through the tract by July next, when great business activity all along the line will be the order of the day. Liberal-sized lots, 60x150 feet, fronting on sixty-foot avenues, are offered and being taken rapidly at $125 each; $40 cash, balance $10 per month, without interest. This price includes water piped to each lot and streets graded. Such terms give the present purchasers a good opportunity to make money in the rising values that must follow the effects of the harbor and railroad developments. Particularly desirable are the 5 and 10 acre villa lots surrounding the town. Conveyances leave the office at 1:30 p.m., to show parties the beautiful property.

Port Ballona

The Future Harbor of Southern California.

THIS IS THE OCEAN TERMINUS OF THE CALIFORNIA CENTRAL RAILROAD, OF THE son, Topeka and Santa Fé system, who are under contract to lay five miles of sidetracks at this point by 10, 1887—the shortest railroad line between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. PORT BALLONA is on Santa Monica Bay, only thirty minutes' ride by rail from the City of Los Angeles, with trains to leave every three hours in the day early in July. Property can be purchased now at a much lower figure than when roads and steamships are brought together. PORT BALLONA has two main avenues, one 100 feet and one wide, with all other streets 60 feet. Residence lots are 40x150, and business lots 25x100 and 25x150 feet. The dence property is at an elevation of from 50 to 75 feet above tide-water, thus affording a most magnificent view, ing from Point Duma to the San Jacinto Mountains, and from the San Bernardino Mountains to Santa Catalina Island, in the Blue Pacific, and with a Beach unsurpassed on the Coast.

The Beautiful Lake of Ballona

Is one of the greatest features of the place, affording, at all times, a perfectly safe and pleasant place for Sailing, Boating of all kinds, and teeming with Fish and Water Fowl. There is also a never-failing Spring of Pure Soft Water, and both sulphur and salt water bath-houses are already in course of construction.

☞ Water will be delivered in iron pipes in front of each lot under good pressure.

☞ Lots are now on sale, and maps and all other information can be obtained from

The Ballona Harbor and Improvement Company,

Room 6, Office M. L. WICKS, Cor. Court and Main Streets.

THE AUCTION SALE, JUNE 14TH, was a great success. Over 150 purchasers are now interested in MARQUETTE. We now offer for private sale a number of lots at low prices. Advance JUNE 24TH.

MARQUETTE!

THE MODEL CITY, 2 miles east of North Ontario, 300 ft. above Ontario townsite, 2640 ft. front on Santa Fe Railroad. An abundant supply of water piped at high pressure is there—not promised. A large hotel, livery stable, stores and residences are there—not promised. Sidewalks are made and a beautiful park-like square, with fountains, is there. The location of Marquette is unsurpassed in health and view. The soil is rich, warm loam. Edward Fraser, a man of wealth and culture, founder of Marquette, is devoting his energies to the development of the new Model City. Marquette is to be the principal shipping point on the Santa Fe Railroad in the most productive fruit region. If men have doubled their money by investing in Monrovia or Azusa, they are going to quadruple it by purchasing lots in Marquette, which offers today THE BEST INVESTMENT IN REAL ESTATE. VICE-PRESIDENT WHEELER by his will gave $25,000 to foreign missions. Africa sends $1000 to be made use of for the conversion of England to Christianity in her treatment to Ireland. The law of compensation holds good.

SANTA BARBARA shows signs of growth. She has twenty-five prisoners in her County Jail, whereas a few years ago not more than a half a dozen was the average. The city is putting on metropolitan airs with this advance, and calling for a chain-gang.

THE little kingdom of Hawaii is having a regular Chinese deluge. Within two years the number of Chinese in the islands has increased 3445, a large increase in proportion to the population. The signs of the times are not favorable for the dynasty of Kalakaua.

THE Sunday Social World charges that the Western Union telegraph office in this city "leaks." This is important, if true, but its truth is doubtful. THE TIMES or any other daily paper here would be pretty apt to know if there were any leakage. THE TIMES knows of none.

THE dynamite plot which has been discovered as a proposed feature of the Queen's Jubilee will not add to Her Majesty's pleasure on the occasion. Dynamite is not the weapon resorted to by patriots to punish wrong or oppression. It is the instrument of anarchy and lawlessness, and it will be suppressed.

The Postmaster.

Ed A. Preuss has been appointed postmaster of Los Angeles in place of John West Green, removed because he is a Republican. THE TIMES was the first paper in the United States to announce that this choice would be made by the President; and yesterday's telegrams announced that the deed has been done. THE TIMES doesn't know that Mr. Preuss has ever had the remotest experience with a postoffice beyond going to one to get his mail, or that he has the executive ability to fill Mr. Green's very difficult shoes. But he is certainly a big improvement on some Democratic lumber which has narrowly escaped being fitted into this position. At best he will have a hard time to run this postoffice, which seems to be the victim of the concentrated stinginess and stupidity of the Democratic Administration. All good citizens of both parties will hope for Mr. Preuss's success in his wrestle with our white elephant, and will help him how they can—for their own sakes if not for his.

As for the retiring postmaster, John West Green, it would be unjust and stupid to let him go out of place without some expression of the regret that all classes will feel. Mr. Green, a little over two years ago, went into the worst mismanaged postoffice in the United States. To the utter chaos he found there he applied his uncommon executive ability, and the exact business methods learned by long service in the Government departments. During his incumbency the revenue of this office has more than doubled; its work has quadrupled. But despite all these obstacles, despite the niggardliness of Vilas, who has persistently refused to give us clerks enough to do the work of the office, despite a thousand other obstructions, which no outsider can begin to guess at but which the press has some inkling of, Mr. Green has given us a wonderfully good postoffice, considering the inadequacy of the force allowed by the Government. He has systematized it at every point; and to those who know what is actually being done at this postoffice, it is a perfect marvel how that little band accomplishes its mountain of work. Mr. Green has, in doing this, sacrificed with equal readiness his pocket, his health and his position. He has been paying out of his own money, right along, many hundreds of dollars per year for necessary expenses which the Administration was too stingy to meet—such as gas bills, clerk hire, etc. He has applied himself so persistently as to break down his health. Every month has left upon his face deeper imprint of the struggle. He could not rest easy under the shameful neglect of this city's postal needs by the Government. He kept writing to Washington, telling what was necessary here, and fairly begging for facilities to serve the city. The authorities tried to choke him off, but he kept on demanding relief for the postoffice, and they have given him some grudging concessions. But he was too much of a thorn in the side of that monumental dolt who rattles about in the chair of Postmaster-General of the United States, and Vilas could't stand it any longer. Had it not been for his constant urging of the department to give Los Angeles something like a decent service, Mr. Green would probably have been allowed to stay his time out, despite his politics.

The city will regret to see Mr. Green step down and out, and can say to him with earnest and literal truth: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant," indulging meantime the somewhat rash hope that his successor will do as well.

Give the Schools Room.

Los Angeles stands in the front rank in the generous provision which she has made for the education of the rising generation in her midst. No city in the State has better schools or more liberal educational facilities than those provided for the children of Los Angeles.

Our commencement season has evinced the thoroughness of the methods of instruction employed in our schools, and the intelligent interest of the children in their studies.

The public schools of Los Angeles are of a high order, and it is the testimony of some of the best teachers of the East who have visited them that they are abreast of the educational life of the older cities.

Said a teacher from the public schools of Boston to the writer, "I do not see that the schools of this city are in any particular inferior to those of my own city. I have visited them and I am astonished at the high standard maintained."

This excellence is a part of our growth. It is satisfactory to know that we are not increasing in population and wealth alone, but that we are sharing the intellectual advancement of the age as well. Modern methods of instruction are not new to us. They are a part of our well-organized public school system and our schools are as good as the best that the country affords. We may point to them with justifiable pride.

One great need exists, however, in connection with them, that of more school buildings, and it is to be hoped that before the opening of the schools in the fall effectual steps will have been taken toward providing more adequate accommodations for our ever-increasing school population. Every year we shall require more room, and schoolhouses should be built suitable to answer future as well as present demands for them.

Growth Everywhere.

Every day brings fresh evidences of the new life which is felt throughout the whole of Southern California. It is not in real estate alone that this activity is felt, but in the general spirit of industrial enterprise and desire for improvement that is everywhere making itself felt. The prosperity of Los Angeles is known throughout the country, and people everywhere are anxious to get here in order to share in it. San Diego is booming grandly, and already talks about having the commerce of the world at her gates. San Bernardino has her eyes on her main chances, and will let nothing slip through her fingers that she can hold, and Santa Barbara has been roused by the approach of the iron horse, and is doing her utmost to attract immigration. Among other steps in the right direction is the organization of still another improvement company, whose articles of incorporation were filed with the County Clerk a few days since. This new corporation takes the name of the Naples Improvement Company. The capital stock of the corporation is $300,000. The little city by the sea is forging right ahead, and, with the advantages that she possesses, is destined to flourish.

The Santa Fé system makes a strong showing in this list. The California Southern has nearly trebled its own business in a year.

The N. C. B.

The northern part of the State is determined to have a citrus belt if it sends all the way to Florida for it. A larger number of orange trees are being planted in the northern counties than ever before, and as the nurseries of Southern California could not supply the quickening demand, extensive orders have been sent to Florida for young trees. Orange-growing will doubtless become a feature of Central and Northern California, though not to such an extent as in the southern counties. Southern California is not afraid of losing her laurels. Her soil is the natural habitat of the citrus family.

THERE is a general protest against the manner in which Judge O'Melveny's courtroom has been ruined. The Recorder's office has absorbed most of the space of the courthouse with its enormously-growing business, and now it has gobbled about a third of Judge O'Melveny's courtroom. The Supervisors should either hire a big room for the court, in some other building, and give the present courtroom entire to the Recorder, or hire a big room outside for the Recorder, and give the court a chance to breathe where it is.

THERE was something of a sensation in Judge O'Melveny's court yesterday when Hon. Stephen M. White read a telegram from a reputable lawyer in St. Louis that Lucky Baldwin was at the races there a week ago yesterday, the day on which a continuance of the Perkins-Baldwin case was granted on Baldwin's affidavit and that of the doctors that he was so sick that to travel would endanger his life.

SANTA MONICA should camp on the trail of the shameless sharks and noonday robbers who disgrace her. The best citizens there are anxious to see these outrages stopped; and if the authorities will honestly try, they will get enough support to succeed handsomely.

AMUSEMENTS.

"HELD BY THE ENEMY."—The Grand Opera-house will be closed all this week, during the elaborate preparations for the production here next week of Gillette's American play Held by the Enemy. A great deal is expected from this play. Among those who will participate in its production here are the following well-known artists:

Henry Miller, Clara Morris's leading man; Melbourne McDowell, Fanny Davenport's leading man; James Neal, of the Lyceum, New York; Charles Stokes, Louis James's leading man; George Fawcett, the Main Line leading man; Miss Viola Allen, formerly McCullough's and later Salvini's leading lady.

The comedy part will be played by the author, Mr. Gillette, and Louise Dillon plays the opposite rôle.

The Big Dredger.

President James Campbell, of the Ballona Harbor Improvement Company, starts for San Francisco on the 25th, to get the mammoth steam dredger, with which the harbor is to be dug out. The dredger will cost $46,000 in San Francisco, and will have the capacity of removing 5000 cubic yards a day. The company, starting at nil, has, without a dredger, dug a channel which will let in vessels of eight or ten feet draft; and the dredger will make things hum there.

The Raymond Cut-off.

The rails and ties for the California Central Railway's cut-off from Raymond to Lamanda Park are on the ground. Two hundred men will be put at work there this morning laying track. There is still a little grading to do, but the cut-off should be ready for trains within a fortnight.

Marriage Licenses.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to C. M. Smith and Susannah Rupp, R. W. Clark and L. D. Peter, and B. Redlean, Jr., and B. O'Brien.

THE FOURTH.

Native Sons and California Pioneers Called Upon.

The following patriotic address has been issued by R. F. Del Valle, president of Ramona Parlor 109, and Homer C. Katz, president Los Angeles Parlor 45, N. S. G. W.:

It is fitting that the Native Sons should participate in the coming celebration. It is the duty of every Native Son to lend his presence towards making this the best celebration in the history of our city. The organization breathes with a patriotic spirit. It is founded upon the purest principles of love of country and of State. It is, therefore, in keeping that every Native Son should do all in his power to lend an added glory to the memorial of our country's birth.

TO THE PIONEERS.

To you, the men of the days of '49, the men who came the weary miles across the plains, or faced the dangers of the Horn around, to build upon these shores the grandest work in the history of our country, who gave the best years of your life toward the development of California; the Native Sons extend to you a cordial and hearty welcome to assist them in their efforts to properly commemorate the birth of our country, and with it the history of our State. You are scattered all over Southern California, and this means is taken to invite your assistance. The proposed plan of the Native Sons is as follows, it it can be successfully carried out with the aid of the Pioneers:

First will come an old-time Mexican carreta or cart, drawn by two oxen and driven by an aged native Californian woman. On foot will be Mexican boys, clad in the old-time costume, urging the oxen forward. This is typical of primitive California before the days of '49.

Next will come a miner, clad in the costume of the early days, astride of his burro, while his pick, pan, rocker and miners' outfit is carried by the burro. This is suggestive of the first industry of California. Next will follow the great seal of the State of California in living characters. The foreground figure will be the Goddess Minerva, represented by a Native Daughter of the Golden West. Above her head will be in flowers the motto "Eureka." At her feet will crouch a live grizzly, feeding upon a cluster from grapevines, emblematic of the peculiar characteristics of the country. The car will be drawn by six white horses, driven by a miner. Next will follow the Pioneers, the honored men who, by their efforts, placed this great seal of State as one of the emblems in this peerless sisterhood of the United States, and then comes their descendants, the Native Sons.

It is earnestly hoped that every pioneer will assist and will forward his name and address to the undersigned.

STILL THEY COME.

The Biggest Chair-house Locates in Los Angeles.

Heywood Bros. & Co. are the most extensive manufacturers of chairs in the United States. Their factory at Gardiner, Mass., is an immense concern. They have big branches in Portland, Me., Boston, Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore and San Francisco; and now they are establishing themselves in Los Angeles. They are now moving into C. B. Woodhead's new brick building at the corner of Upper Main and College streets, on which they have a three years' lease. The building is 75x140, and two-stories high. They occupy the whole building, and hope to be ready for business next week. The house will carry on an exclusively wholesale trade in chairs, which will be shipped here from the Gardiner factory in the rough—"knocked down" the trade phrase is—and set up and finished. The factory—for such it really is—will be a notable addition to the city's business. W. D. Noland is manager of the Los Angeles branch.

The man stated that Williams refused to give him the money, and a complaint was issued from Justice Taney's court. Williams was lodged in the County Jail.

CREMATION.

Opinions of Two Intelligent Local Papers.

[Sunday Social World.]

THE TIMES was the first newspaper to mention the fact that a furnace had been built in Los Angeles for the purpose of reducing corpses to ashes, and on Friday morning published an account of the first use of the crematory. Really the weather is rather too warm to think about cremation with comfort; but the subject is one in which we all have a personal interest, inasmuch as every one will have an opportunity of trying it in order to give a final testimonial for or against it, over the old orthodox form of burial. Seriously, there are so many reasons for accepting cremation that it looks as if it must ultimately succeed burial. Strong prejudice is to be overcome, and long tradition to be undermined. There is nothing half so torturing to the mind in incineration as burial in the ground. Who has stood by the open grave of a dear friend or idolized relative, seen the coffin covered with crosses and wreathes—already withering like the hopes that arise only to be crushed—sink out of sight into the very ground, and not thought it so? And then what awful pulsations of anguish and dread as the earth falls upon the dead. How one starts forward in desperation to rescue the inanimate form so dearly loved in life—to beg the hands that wield the spade to be more tender, and let the clods fall gently on the treasure God or fate has snatched from our arms. The heartbreaks, the agony of a lifetime are crowded into an hour. And to turn away from the grave toward a home so desolate, leaving the mound or fresh earth and the wilted flowers placed upon it mutely appealing to one's heart of what lies beneath them, to note how fast and carelessly those who slowly followed to the grave leave it—all these are burned into the memory of whoever has passed through such sad experiences. And then to think of the lonely habitation of the dead, with the breezes that creep through the grounds, and the silent, unpitying stars overhead—all these things float back upon the mind with exquisite and reproachful sadness. Cremation takes away all this and give you in its place—what? It cannot destroy memory—nor would you have it. But it robs the grave of its loneliness, it relieves the terrible agony of the burial scene, and it removes from the mind those many trying physical conditions necessarily a part of the generally accepted sepulture of the dead. Cremation, too, is more economical—more healthy—better for the living—certainly as pleasant for the unfeeling dead.

The erection of a crematory here is fair notice by this city to the whole coast that, as Los Angeles is foremost in taking care of the living, she will be equally generous in providing for her dead.

[Evening Express.]

The existence of a cremation society in this city, and the erection of a furnace, shows that there is a considerable sentiment here in favor of that method of disposing of dead bodies. The incineration which took place a few nights ago may be regarded, therefore, as but the inauguration of the custom among a considerable number of people in this city. Reason and good taste are certainly on the side of cremation. Bodies rotting in the ground are often a source of pollution to wells, and are in other ways injurious to health. They occupy space which might otherwise be utilized and in this respect are a considerable expense often felt keenly by people of moderate means. From an æsthetic point of view the speedy reduction of a body to a little pile of white ashes is certainly to be preferred to allowing it to lie for years in the ground, a mass of filth and corruption. In the matter of expense cremation has much the advantage, and the necessity of reform in funeral expenses is obvious to any one who knows how people of modest incomes are often compelled to pinch themselves in order to give their dead the kind of funeral which the iron law of custom virtually compels them to give. Cremation is more healthful, is in better taste, and is more economical. On the other side is sentiment, always powerful. In the average mind there is a feeling of abhorrence to placing the body of a loved one in a furnace and burning it up. Accustomed to notice only what is unusual, such minds have never been struck with the hideousness of the gradual rotting of the human body. It is from such as these that the opposition will come. It is a matter in which each can do as he pleases. As cremation becomes more universal the public mind will become more used to it, and its adoption will gradually become more common.

As Many Women as Men.

[All the Year Round.]

There are still a few theorists who justify polygamy on the ground that more women are born into the world than men, but the theory has long been exploded. August Bebel in his remarkable work, recently translated into English, shows that in ten States, with a population of 250,900,000, the excess of females over males was only 2,500,000; and when we remember the extent to which men outnumber women in the colonies, and the fact that in India there are 6,000,000 more men than women, the natural inference is that if the inhabitants of the earth were distributed according to the sexes, men and women would be found to exist in about equal proportions.

Becoming Civilized.

The people of the Holy Land are becoming civilized. Bethlehem's streets are lighted with gas, Nazareth is the headquarters of big olive oil speculators, and Cæsarea is having a building boom. A large soap factory has been established on the site of the ancient Shechem, and the people are beginning to use it on their persons instead of trying to eat it, as they did at first.

The Del Monte Arson Case on Trial.

Some Damaging Testimony Against Ex-Manager Simmons.

Escape of a San Diego Forger After Being Arrested at Yuma.

A Submarine Cable to Be Laid to Australia—Tragic Outcome of a Grass Valley Divorce Case—Mysterious Homicide at Santa Barbara.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SALINAS, June 20.—The trial of Simmons, ex-manager of the Hotel del Monte, on charge of arson in having, as alleged, burned the celebrated resort, began this morning in the Superior Court, before Judge J. K. Alexander. The courtroom was densely packed. The jury was completed by the end of the morning session. Simmons's bail has been reduced from $20,000 to $12,000.

This afternoon the opening statement for The People was made by District Attorney Tuttle. He said it was their intention to show that Simmons had lived beyond his means; that he was short in his accounts, and that on the night of the fire he was seen tampering with the water-pipes.

George Schoenwald, who succeeded Simmons as manager of the Del Monte, was the first witness. He stated that he had seen a stream of water thrown sixty feet high by the Hotel del Monte system, but on the night of the fire twelve feet could not be obtained. He saw Simmons three times on the night of the fire, and each time he appeared clean and tidy.

The cross-examination failed to shake the testimony.

MURDER OR SUICIDE.

Tragic Affair in a Disreputable House in Santa Barbara.

SANTA BARBARA, June 20.—[Special.] At about a quarter to 8 o'clock tonight, during a scuffling row at a disreputable house on Santa Barbara street, between the mistress of the place, a woman known as "Lola," and her lover, E. A. James, the latter was instantly killed by a shot from a Smith and Wesson revolver. The ball entered at the back of James's head. The inmates says that it was a case of suicide. The circumstances do not point toward suicide and the manner of death will probably be closely questioned at the inquest tomorrow. M.

SHOT HIS FATHER.

Result of a Divorce Proceeding at Grass Valley.

GRASS VALLEY, June 20.—[By the Associated Press.] Edward Lowry attempted to kill his father on Saturday evening with a shotgun. Part of the charge went through his hat and a portion lodged in his face and destroyed the sight of his right eye. The disturbance between them was caused by divorce proceedings of the mother against her husband. He has for some time past been endeavoring to intimidate her. On the evening mentioned he went to her house and her son endeavored to drive him off with the shotgun. One barrel of the gun was soon accidentally discharged, and the father making a move to draw a revolver, the son discharged the other barrel.

A SAN JOSE TRAGEDY.

Peculiar Circumstances Attending the Death of Sarah Collins.

SAN JOSE, June 20.—[By the Associated Press.] At the Coroner's inquest over the body of Mrs. Sarah Collins, who died on Sunday morning, her mother and several other witnesses testified that the deceased had stated that Lew Weber, a saloonkeeper, had kicked her in the stomach while she was interfering to prevent him from beating his wife. The doctors, however, testified that death was the result of chronic alcoholism, and the verdict was "Death from natural causes."

Deceased was 26 years of age, and a native of Wisconsin. Two years ago her husband, with whom she did not get along, was found in the hall of a Wisconsin hotel with a bullet in his head and a pistol by his side. Mrs. Collins was suspected of shooting him, but the Coroner's jury rendered a verdict of suicide. After his death she led a dissolute life.

FORGER MEYERS.

Arrested at Yuma, but Released on Habeas Corpus.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 20.—[Special.] Meyers, the forger of a check at San Diego on Clumm & O'Connor, here, was caught at Yuma last night by United States Deputy Marshal William Smith. Meyers was taken to San Diego.

YUMA (Ariz.), June 20.—[By the Associated Press.] F. A. Meyers, supposed to be the party who recently forged checks upon San Diego banks, was arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Smith and Sheriff Nugent. He had been convicted of forgery previously in Arizona, and served a year in the Territorial prison at Yuma. He was discharged about four months ago. He subsequently swindled several persons in San Diego, and fled from there to Yuma. Today he was released on a writ of habeas corpus, and soon a warrant arrived, but he had disappeared. The officers are searching for him. A number of blank checks on San Diego banks were found on his person.

PROBABLY DROWNED.

Pleasure-Seekers Fail to Return from a Boating Trip.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—[By the Associated Press.] A party of five pleasure-seekers, out sailing yesterday afternoon, were drowned by the upsetting of their boat, and as yet none of their bodies have been recovered. Manuel Joseph, who has been employed in various capacities by the Harbor Commissioners, bought a whitehall boat, and yesterday took out on the San Francisco Bay John Roth and his wife, Miss Annie Bartoloma, 18 years old, and a young man named James Ross. The party embarked at the Union-street wharf, and headed for Goat Island. The boat disappeared, and beyond the evidence of several young children, no one witnessed the disaster. Emma Peters, a little girl who saw them embark, relates that the boat capsized midway to Goat Island. The story at first seemed incredible, but is now accepted as a fact, as the boat has not reappeared. The police were only notified this afternoon.

ANOTHER OCEAN CABLE.

The Pacific Coast to Be Connected Directly with Australia.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—[By the Associated Press.] A year and a half ago the proposition was advanced that if a subsidy could be secured from the United States Government, a submarine cable could be laid from San Francisco to Australia, by way of the Sandwich Islands and Fiji, and as nothing could be secured from this Government, the projectors went further north, and selected Vancouver, the terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as the American landing-place of the cable. Audley Coote, of Tasmania, managing director of the cable company, arrived in this city yesterday, en route from London to Australia. In speaking of the prospects of the company, he said: "We will touch at Hawaii and Fiji, having secured a substantial subsidy of $400,000 per year from the Canadian, Ha-

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—[Special.] An open rupture is probable between the local wine-dealers and the producers. On the 9th inst. the committee of the producers asked the merchants to meet them today to discuss the Pure Wine Law. They have received the following curt note in reply:

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—Capt. J. C. de St. Hubert, chairman of Committee of Wine-growers' Association—DEAR SIR: We beg to acknowledge the receipt of your esteemed favor of the 9th inst., in which you ask the dealers to meet the growers on the 20th of June, at the Grand Hotel, San Francisco, for the purpose of discussing the relations of both producers and dealers, and arriving at a plan for carrying out the law in such a manner as to not conflict with the interests of either party concerned, believing that our interests are mutual and not antagonistic. In reply, we beg leave to say that the dealers at no time entertained any doubts as to the relation that should exist between the grower and dealer, and that, unlike many growers, the dealers have always supposed the interests of both to be mutual, and not antagonistic. To receive this assurance from the growers, even at this late day, is a source of great gratification to us, and leads us to hope that in future we will hear less denunciation of dealers, as was formerly so much the fashion with your association. In regard to arriving at a plan for carrying out the intent of the law in such a manner as to not conflict with the interests of either party concerned, we can only say that when the bill was drawn up, perfected and introduced in the Legislature the coöperation of dealers was not sought, and, not having in any way been responsible for the law, we do not find ourselves called upon to discuss with the creators of this law its provisions, at which we must of necessity be at a disadvantage, as its framers and supporters are supposed to be familiar with its true intents and purposes. In conclusion, permit us to say that this association, while it will give its best endeavors to carry out the Pure Wine Law in its letter and spirit—in which it hopes to receive your assistance—can see no occasion for a joint meeting of our associations to discuss a law so clearly defined, and must, therefore, with great regret, decline your kind invitation to be present at your meeting on June 20th. Very respectfully,

THE SAN FRANCISCO WINE-DEALERS' ASSOCIATION.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—[By the Associated Press.] From present appearances it looks as though there will be trouble between

How the Union Pacific Avoided Paying Taxes on Surveyed Lands.

Convicted Chicago Boodlers Trying to Get Out on Bail—A Disgraceful Squabble Over Boston's "Cradle of Liberty"—Jake Sharp's Case—Eastern Notes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

OMAHA, June 20.—[By the Associated Press.] Messrs. Pattison and Littler, members of the Pacific Railroad Company, arrived this morning from the East. They spent Saturday in Chicago, taking the testimony of Marvin Hughitt, president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company, and also president of the Sioux City and Pacific Company. Hughitt testified that the Sioux City and Pacific would not be able at maturity of the Government's lien to pay anything toward discharging its obligations to the Government. If the Government insisted on forcing its lien, the common stockholders, he thought, would abandon the property. A majority of the stock was now held by the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company, which bought the stock for cash, at what rate Hughitt did not know. An examination of the minute-book of the Sioux City company disclosed, among other things, the fact that about the time the Sioux City and Pacific was turned over to the Northwestern Company, John I. Blair, of New Jersey, secured the passage by the Sioux City directors of a resolution providing for the assumption by the Northwestern Company of all obligations of the Sioux City except the obligations to the Government.

On reaching here today the commission set about examining the offices of the Union Pacific. Benjamin McAllister, Land Commissioner, was closely pressed by Gov. Pattison to answer whether it was not the policy of the company to permit lands to remain unpatented, in order to avoid local taxation. He finally answered "Yes." But Mr. Poppleton, counsel for the company, explained to the Commissioners that McAllister could only speak as to the Kansas division, and not as to the policy of the company, having only recently taken charge of the Land Department. McAllister added that for the last five years on the Kansas division the company had applied for patents and paid fees for nearly 1,000,000 acres for which it had got no patents from the Government. In answer to a question by Commissioner Little, as to why the company had not yet selected all the lands to which it was entitled, McAllister said that much was in the localities where there were was not a demand for land.

Gov. Pattison asked the witness to ascertain and report to the commission what amount of money the company could have paid in taxes if it had patented all the lands to which it was entitled as soon as the survey was made.

Erastus Young, auditor, testified as to certain rebates on refundings appearing on the company's books. Gov. Pattison took up some items in detail, and asked for an explanation of them. As these questions disclosed the names of the parties to whom the rebates and refunds had been made, Poppleton contended that it was an improper line of examination, and would simply advertise, through the press, the dealings of the company on the matter of rebate. This would hurt the company. In the discussion which ensued, Gov. Pattison, with some warmth, remarked that there should be no star-chamber proceedings about this commission.

A Big Pension Fraud.

ELMIRA (N. Y.), June 20.—Francis Patterson, better known as "Blind" Patterson, who received $13,000 pension money last week, went to Williamsport, Pa., a few days ago, and it is now learned that he turned over $10,000 to Dr. A. N. Mills, who also disappeared. The astounding revelation is now made by Wilkes Miller, a well-known citizen, who has made an affidavit that a fraudulent scheme was arranged to secure money for Patterson, whose blindness occurred after the war, and from an ordinary disease. The Government officials are attempting to probe the fraud.

The liabilities in addition to this are about $100,000. The assets will be sufficient to secure the amount. A director of the Washington Manufacturing Company said today that the company would pay dollar for dollar.

Preller's Murderer to Hang.

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Maxwell, alias Brooks, the murderer of Preller, is to be hanged. The Supreme Court has refused to reverse the decision of the court below. The prisoner was unofficially notified by his attorney yesterday, and was very much dejected, saying that his trial was a farce. Brooks's counsel will now, it is said, move for a rehearing of the case, and if this fails an attempt will be made to get it before the United States Supreme Court on constitutional points. The date of the execution is fixed for July 13th.

The Chicago Boodlers.

Preuss Appointed Postmaster at Los Angeles—His Selection a Blow at the Hearst Faction—National Notes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—[Special.] The Call's Washington special says: "Edward A. Preuss, of Los Angeles, was today appointed postmaster of that city to succeed Mr. Green. The latter is among the last of the Republican Presidential postmasters to go. The only other Republican postmaster of any importance is at Woodland, and his commission will soon expire. Preuss's appointment is a knock-down for Senator Hearst and the Democratic State Committee. Nearly every member of the committee indorsed Sidney Lacey for the place, and Hearst was a warm backer of Lacey. Preuss had only one champion in Washington, and his name was suggested for the place by a gentleman in Los Angeles who has been prominent in Democratic circles in the southern part of the State, and who was asked to name a man acceptable to the people of Los Angeles and his party."

WASHINGTON, June 20.—[By the Associated Press.] The President today appointed as postmasters Edward A. Preuss at Los Angeles, vice J. W. Green, removed; Willis U. Masters at Pasadena, vice F. H. Oxner, deceased.

The insurance is placed with English companies.

Gave the Baby Coal Oil.

UKIAH, June 20.—On Sunday Mrs. Henry Miller, wife of a rancher near town, left her baby in charge of two children, the oldest being 5 years and the youngest 3. In her absence the children laid the baby on the floor and while one held it the other took a can of coal oil and poured the oil down the child's throat, and on the mother's return the child was found in a dying condition from strangulation, living only a short time afterward.

The Queen Again Appears in Public—President Cleveland's Congratulations—Catholic Officials May Attend at the Abbey—Other News.

VIENNA, June 20.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The official Gazette tomorrow will contain an article on the Jubilee of Queen Victoria which will say: "Millions of people throughout the world will extol the womanly virtue of Victoria. The day marks a long epoch in the political sphere. The whole world sympathizes with the festival for the famous Queen's blessed rule. From every quarter of the globe comes this sympathy. It is most joyfully shared in by the Austrian provinces. Victoria, throughout her life, recalls that of our own great Empress, Maria Theresa. Both showered blessings around them. Both were revered by their people. The memory of Victoria, like that of Maria Theresa, will be blessed as long as history exists.

REHEARSING IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

LONDON, June 20.—A children's private rehearsal was held at Westminster Abbey today, in the presence of the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Dean of Westminster. A number of court officials and other state officers assisted in the ceremony of removing the coronation chair to the dais, placing before the Queen the praying-stool. The grand robes of state were brought forward by the Queen's robesman and handed to the Lord Chamberlain, by whom they were placed over the coronation chair. The choral service opened with a Jubilee anthem, which was more fervid and more operatic in character than is usual in cathedral services. The grand Te Deum, composed by the Prince Consort, followed, and then Bridge's anthem, composed especially for the Jubilee ceremony, throughout which was interwoven the Prince Consort's choral, the whole ending with the national anthem. The rehearsal was a perfect success. The effect was grand.

At midnight the crowds were still moving about the streets, thousands pouring westward, apparently with the intention of remaining out all night to secure positions along the route of the procession. The police permit to publicans and sinners to keep their places open practically all night tomorrow aroused public indignation, it being feared that such license would be conducive to riots and orgies. In the Commons this evening, Sir Wilfred Lawson demanded under what law the permission was given. The Home Secretary contended that the Commissioner of Police had discretion to extend the hour of the public houses.

Minister Phelps delivered to the Queen the autograph letter from President Cleveland, which was sealed. The Queen received Phelps in a small room, not one of the state departments. Only the Duke of Connaught and Lord Salisbury were present. Her Majesty expressed her sense of the kind feeling always manifested toward her by the American people. Other diplomats carrying congratulations were received after the customary form.

CATHOLICS MAY ATTEND.

Mr. Henry Mathews and other Catholic officials will attend services in Westminster Abbey. Lord North writes that Cardinal Manning has ordered the holding of an official mass, to which all Catholic persons are invited, and which Monsignor Scilla will attend. The Queen has approved the arrangement. Cardinal Manning writes: "Any Catholic holding an office which requires his attendance on the Queen may fulfill his duty."

RIOT AT CORK.

CORK, June 20.—Some houses in this city were illuminated and decorated this evening in honor of the Queen's Jubilee. The crowd smashed all the lighted windows shouting: "To hell with the Queen!" and cheering for Parnell. The police were pelted with stones. They charged and dispersed the mob.

JUBILEE NOTES.

LONDON, June 20.—The police today made a thorough search of Westminster Abbey as a precaution against dynamite outrages tomorrow. Every civilian is excluded, even the workmen who have been employed in making temporary alterations for tomorrow's event. Two peers attempted to enter the abbey, but were prevented by the police.

An illuminated address to the Queen from British subjects resident in Boston, Mass., will be formally delivered to Her Majesty this afternoon at Buckingham Palace.

Three hundred peers and other prominent persons belonging to the Roman Catholic Church have returned the tickets entitling them to seats in Westminster Abbey tomorrow during the Jubilee services. The city is already bearing signs of being crowded in anticipation of tomorrow. The throngs on the streets are more numerous than at any time within the recollection of the present generation. In some parts of town the crush of sight-seers impedes traffic on the streets.

The Queen this morning drove from the castle at Windsor to the railway station and came to London on a special train. She drove from the station here to Buckingham Palace. Crowds of people lined the entire route in town, and displayed the greatest enthusiasm. Her Majesty appeared delighted at the loyalty exhibited, and bowed and smiled in every direction.

Decorations, with banners, mottoes and flags are progressing on a great scale, and when done promise to eclipse any thing of the kind ever before attempted in England.

The exercises attending the celebration of the Jubilee continued today in all business centers of the country. The corporations by thus forestalling the London order of exercises enabled their officers to be present at the services in Westminster Abbey.

A Specific for Croup.

Mr. J. J. LaGrange, a prominent druggist of Avoca, Neb., says: "I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a specific for Croup. It is very pleasant to take, which is one of the most important requisites where a cough remedy is intended for use among children. I have known of cases of spasmodic croup where I know the life of a little one was saved by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." Sold by C. H. Hane, 77 and 79 North Spring street.

MR. C. H. SHAWEN, Wellsville, Kan., says: "It is with pleasure that I can speak of the good Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy has done in my family during the last thirteen years. In the most obstinate cases of summer complaint and diarrhœa among my children it acts as a charm, making it never necessary to call in a physician. I can truthfully say that it is my judgment, based on years of experience, that there is not a medicine in the market that is its equal as a family remedy, and that I will never keep house without a bottle of it in my possession." Sold by C. H. Hane, 77 and 79 North Spring street.

A FRENCH WASHING LIST.

The Further Experience of a Correspondent in the City of Paris.

[Special Correspondence.]

PARIS, May 27.

I had a terrible time getting washing done in Paris. Not so much with the washing as with the washing list. You have to make out two sets of lists of clothes. One in French. One in English. French washwoman keeps one, I the other.

Wife with me. Didn't mention it before. Presence of wife adds to difficulty of regulating washing.

Washing here pugilistic. Clothes pounded to pieces with wooden mallets. Washing done in the same way as 500 years ago, more or less. Result, frayed and raveled collars, cuffs and things. Rotted beside. Sometimes they put in the suds.

Wife—Now, when are you going to make out that washing list? The woman's waiting for our things.

I—Confound the washing list. Well, get me a pencil. Name the duds.

She—One table cloth.

I—Table cloth! Let's see what that is in the dictionary. It's nappe. All right. One nappe. What's next?

She—Shirts.

I—That's chemise in French. That's why we call 'em shimmies at home. How many?

She—There's five of yours. But what shall I call my——

I—Got to call 'em all shimmies. Shirts all one common gender in France. Ten shimmies. What next?

She—Four pair of long stockings and five of your socks.

I—All right. Nine pairs of mouchoirs. Mouchoir is French for stockings, isn't it? Come. Hurry up. Six men waiting to see me on business.

She—I don't know. Seems to me that mouchoir ain't French for stockings. It wasn't last week, any way.

I—Yes it was. Recollect it perfectly. Four pair of your long mouchoirs, five of my short ones. What next? Man waiting for me on business.

She—Six handkerchiefs.

I—That's bas; six bahs. The idea of calling a handkerchief a bah. There's no sense in this language, any way. Next article?

She—Four pairs of ladies' and four pairs of gentlemen's cuffs.

I (refer to French dictionary)—Cuffs, cuffs, here it is, manchettes; French for cuffs. Why don't they call 'em cuffs? It's shorter. This language uses up lots of one's wind.

***

Lapse of four days. Arrival of Gallic washerwoman with clothes. Also washing list revised and corrected.

She—Now, do come and help me see if all these things have come home right.

I—Very well. Only don't be any longer than you can help. Four men waiting to see me this morning.

She—Here's the nine pairs of mouchoirs all right.

I (looking over list to check it off)—Why the mouchoirs are all scratched off!

Gallic washerwoman now babbles and babbles. Points to our handkerchiefs, which turn out to be mouchoirs.

She—There! I knew you were wrong when you put that down the other day.

I—Well, what in thunder do they call stockings? (Appeal to washerwoman.) Madame, voulay vous me informay what you parler socks, stockings and all such truck both for men and women?

Washerwoman—Bas, monsieur, pour madame; bas pour monsieur.

I—Bah! It's all bah in French. What's this on the list—pantaloons? Pantaloons, five pairs. I never put five pairs of pantaloons in last week's wash.

She—Dearest idiot of my soul, it means draw—.

I—What! Both kinds?

She—Yes, you fool, you! P. M.

late, show that she is a very handsome boat indeed. But she hasn't won the "America" cup yet.

Dangerous Atoms of Dust.

It seems to be the hardest thing in the world to convince people that the most essential thing to human existence is good air. It is the willful ignorance of on this subject that is making a narrow chested, weak lunged race. The prevalent blindness on this point is something appalling. Just watch a lot of workmen tearing down a building. They stand coughing and spitting in the blinding cloud of limedust hour after hour, sowing the seeds of consumption and general disease, when, if they would tie a moist sponge over the nose and mouth, the air would reach the lungs purified of those dangerous atoms of dust. Again, go into any big room, a theatre, church or schoolhouse, while being swept, and you will see the janitor placidly inhaling the dust in death dealing gulps of air. Suggest the sponge to him, and he will laugh at you. It is this obliviousness that allows the clerks to keep silent and to submit to having the stores swept out during the working hours. If they had to buy the air they are forced to breathe, they wouldn't take it at any price. It is because it costs nothing that they pay no attention to it.—Hygienist in Globe-Democrat.

Louis Kossuth, the venerable Hungarian patriot, says in a late letter: "The burden of more than 84 years weighs down my infirm shoulders. Under this weight the body is deadened, the soul grows blunted; life becomes a state of mere barren vegetating. Man feels then like some time worn, moldered ruin, which no longer assorts with the world of the living."—Chicago Tribune.

WHITMAN'S NEW GUARANTEED SUPERIOR TO ANY LEVER PRESS NOW MADE REBOUND PLUNGER

DOUBLE-ACTING, CONTINUOUS,

HAY, STRAW, & WOOL PRESS

[READ THE FOLLOWING:

EL CAJON, San Diego Co., Cal., Aug. 1, 1885.

GENTLEMEN: We have pressed 410 tons with our "Improved Whitman's Hay Press" this season, in 16x22 press, in about two months' running. We have pressed from eight to fourteen tons a day in grass hay; from eight to ten tons a day with ease. We have pressed in grain hay eight tons in six hours, just to see what the press would do. In grain hay the bales run from 180 to 240 pounds. We have pressed 190 pounds with ten feeds, which the Dederick press cannot do, because their feed-box is not so large as ours. The bales made by our Whitman press are much smoother and more sightly than bales made by the Dederick press. We have pressed twenty bales an hour, averaging 150 pounds to the bale, in wild oats hay. We pressed hay this year upon the same ranch where the Dederick Over Circle press baled last year. Their bales weighed 85 to 125 pounds; our bales weighed 125 to 190 pounds. In testimony that the foregoing statement is true, the undersigned crew running the "Whitman Improved Perpetual Hay Press" belonging to Gregg Bros., El Cajon, San Diego county, Cal., have hereunto set our hands and seals the day and date first above written. The Mirror Premium Sewing-Machine.

$22.00 for a $75.00 High-Arm Sewing-Machine

And The Weekly Mirror.

THE MIRROR

Perfect and Improved High-Arm Sewing-Machine

For $22 this machine and WEEKLY MIRROR, postage paid, for one year.

This machine is the first of its kind ever offered the public at factory prices, and cannot be bought from agents for less than the regular selling price, $75. It is the high-arm pattern, has self-setting needle; cannot be run backward; has automatic cut-off for driving belt, which prevents it from being run backward, thus avoiding all dangers of breaking thread or needles. It is a noiseless, light-running machine, accompanied by an illustrated book of instructions that makes everything so plain and simple that any lady or child can master it. We call it the MIRROR HIGH-ARM SEWING MACHINE, and we warrant it to give full and entire satisfaction in every case, or it may be returned to us within ten days after the subscriber has received the same, if it fails to be as respresented, at our expense, and the money will be refunded.

The above cut represents our HIGH-ARM MIRROR SEWING MACHINE, the very latest improved machine of the high-arm style; a complete embodiment of all the most recent improvements in sewing machine mechanism; a model selected by us after a careful and critical examination and test of the various machines in the market.

Having arranged with the manufacturers to supply us with these machines in large quantities for spot cash at or very near first cost, we can save our subscribers at least $35 on the price of each machine. As this is the first time a sewing machine of this character has been offered to the public at about manufacturer's cost, we feel confident our readers will promptly take advantage of this opportunity to provide themselves with first-class high-arm machines, which obtained in any other way would cost them almost three times the amount.

We could fill several columns expatiating on the merits of this high-arm machine, but to save the reader's patience we will simply say that it contains all the modern improvements, is strong, simple, durable, light-running and noiseless.

OUTFIT—Each machine is supplied with the following outfit: One Hemmer and Feller (one piece), Twelve Needles, Six Bobbins, One Wrench, One Quilting Gauge, One Screw Driver, Oil Can filled with Oil, Cloth Gauge and Thumb-screw and a Book of Directions. The following extra attachments are also furnished free: Ruffler, Tucker, Binder, Set of Wide Hemmers and Shirring Plate.

The regular retail price of this machine is $75. Our price with a year's subscription to the WEEKLY MIRROR is only $22.

Knowing the character of the machine and the high grade of material and workmanship entering into its construction, we have no hesitation in agreeing to return the money at once to any subscriber who is not fully satisfied on examination that our high-arm machine is fully equal to our representations, we paying freight on return of the machine.

CAUTION—Sewing machine agents will tell you, "Beware of Cheap machines." We tell you buy the high-arm machine on trial, and if not satisfactory return it. No agent can sell you its equal for less than $75. Each part of the machine is fitted with such exactness that no trouble can arise if any part is broken, for a new piece can be supplied with an assurance of a perfect fit.

The High-Arm Machine is carefully packed and shipped by freight from Chicago.

Freight charges are to be paid at point of delivery by the subscriber.

Give shipping directions plainly, as well as the postoffice address the paper is to be sent to.

☞ The LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES—Any person desiring the Daily and this Sewing Machine can have the same by mail for $29.

HOW TO ORDER.

When you remit us the $22 for the Machine and WEEKLY MIRROR one year, write plainly the point the machine is to be shipped to, as well as the postoffice the paper is to be sent to. The machine should be ordered to the nearest railroad point where the railroad company has an agent stationed, and the name of railroad station, the county and State should be stated. When $22 are sent for the WEEKLY MIRROR one year and the machine, the freight charges from the factory are to be paid by the subscriber at the point Machine is delivered to.

We would advise subscribers to order machine sent by freight, as the freight charges are about one-third to one-fourth of express charges; and while the time taken in the carrying of the machine is a little longer, they go just as securely and safely as by express. The machines will be shipped direct from the manufactory (Chicago), all set up ready for use. The money must accompany order. Address,

The demand has been increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great

This book contains 544 pages; is eight and one-half inches long, six inches wide and two inches thick. It is printed on extra heavy paper and is handsomely bound, with embossed cover and gilt-lettered back.

IT IS DIFFERENT FROM ALL OTHER WORKS OF THE KIND EVER PUBLISHED.

FIRST—It teaches those who have it how to tell what the matter is when some one gets sick. All similar books tell what to do—if you know what the disease is. THIS BOOK TELLS YOU HOW TO RECOGNIZE THE DISEASE, and then what to do for it. No other book published does this.

SECOND—When a person is really attacked by a dangerous disease, it enables you to know the fact, and in such cases its advice is, "Send for a competent physician at once." In all ordinary cases, such as can be cured without a doctor (and most of the ailments in a family are of this kind, if only you could recognize them), it gives full directions for treatment. The point is, that it teaches you the difference between a dangerous and a trifling disease, and tells you when it is necessary and when it is not necessary to call a physician. No other book published does this.

THIRD—It gives separately, and for each disease, the methods used by each of the different "schools of medicine," and in such cases the prescriptions are made by the most eminent men in their respective mode of practice. This makes the work specially suited to the needs of every family, no matter what school of medicine they prefer—the Allopathic, Homeopathic, Hydropathic, Eclectic or Herbal. NO OTHER BOOK PUBLISHED DOES THIS.

WE WILL SHOW YOU HOW IT DOES THIS

If you will call and see us.

Please read these indorsements of distinguished physicians which were sent to the publishers of this grand work:

H. S. HANN, M.D.

R. A. GUNN, M.D.,
Professor of the Burnett Medical College.

The book contains a valuable chapter of symptoms, which will aid wonderfully in diagnosing diseases, and the proper remedies are given for Allopathic, Homeopathic, Eclectic, Hydropathic and Herbal.

Every family should have a guide to health to assist the family doctor. not intended to take the place of the doctor in every instance, but to help you do everything possible in his absence.

—:TO OUR OLD SUBSCRIBERS:—

It is customary with newspapers to give premiums to new subscribers only; but the publishers of the MIRROR mean to reverse this old rule; they intend to do as well, at least, by their old subscribers—those who have stood by the paper in years past, and paid their money for it "right straight along." We propose to show our appreciation of these friends in a substantial manner; and as the premium to be offered is expensive, and as our express object in offering it is to increase our list of subscribers, we will ask every old subscriber who may renew his subscription, thus receiving the valuable premium, to constitute himself a missionary, and aid us in securing at least two new subscribers.

HOT ASHES.

MRS. JIM PERFORATES MR. JIM'S FLOATING RIBS.

But He Says It Was Only an Accident—A Hard Character Severely Wounded by His Wife—No Arrests Made.

Shooting scrapes and rumors of shooting scrapes are becoming very numerous in this city. During the past few days several mysterious shooting scrapes have occurred, but the most mysterious of all took place at a few minutes of 6 o'clock last night, in the lodging-house at No. 31 North Main street. The notorious Jim Ash, who is now one of Scott's bartenders, was shot in the left side, just below the floating ribs. As the story goes, Ash and his wife entered their room, which is right next to Dr. Turner's office. The Doctor was in his office at the time, and a few minutes after the couple entered he heard a pistol-shot. At first he thought it was on the street, but Mrs. Ash rushed out into the hall, crying: "Jim is shot; for God's sake, come to his help!" The Doctor lost no time in going into the room, where he found Ash on the bed, with the blood running from his side. Ash did not seem to be suffering much pain, and knew perfectly well what was going on. He stated that it was all a mistake. About this time Deputy Sheriff Charley Cruz knocked at the door. He was admitted by Mrs. Ash, who was greatly excited, and was pulling her hair and crying most pitifully. Cruz asked what had happened, and all that he could get out of Ash was that it was an accident. Ash called his wife to his bedside, and the two seemed to be very affectionate. Cruz found the pistol on a table, and placed it in his pocket. He asked Ash a number of questions, but could get no satisfaction out of him. The wounded man stated several times that he wanted the officer to understand that if he died from the wound, it was only an accident, and he wanted to make an affidavit to the effect that he did not blame any one. Cruz looked up the Sheriff, and Mr. Kays visited the singular couple, and Ash was made to give the particulars of the shooting according to his version. He said that he was about to go to work, and he asked his wife to hand him the pistol. She started to do so, and was about to hand it to him when it exploded, and he felt a sharp pain in his side. His wife was more frightened than he, and he was positive that she did it accidentally. The officers thought that the couple had been drinking, and from persons who room in the same house it is learned that a very lively quarrel took place in Ash's room just previous to the shooting. It is a well-known fact that Ash and his wife have not been on the best of terms for some time past. Several months ago, while Ash was running the Palace saloon, on Main street, between Court and Temple, his wife walked up and down the street until a late hour at night, waiting for Ash to come out. She held a pistol in her hand, and the police were notified of that fact. An officer was at once sent to the spot, but before he arrived there Ash and his wife had made up their differences, and walked off together. Shortly after that Mrs. Ash appeared at the police station and wanted an officer to go to her room and keep Ash from disturbing her while she packed her trunk. She then went to the country, and was not again heard of until the quarrel at the Pico House, which was fully reported in THE TIMES at the time it occurred. After the Pico House quarrel the couple made up their differences, and it was supposed that they were getting along swimmingly.

Ash's wound is not necessarily a dangerous one, and the chances are that he will be out in a few days, if he takes good care of himself.

ANOTHER SUCKER.

The Santa Monica Sharks Take Him in Badly.

Tenderfeet will never get tired of bucking at the delusive shell game, and the Santa Monica sharpers will live on the fat of the land as long as justice in that burg is run on the Missouri plan. Only last Sunday a member of the great Smith family, who hails from Dakota, and is sojourning at the St. Charles Hotel in this city, visited Santa Monica for the purpose of seeing the climate and taking a plunge in the Pacific. He took a plunge, but it was into dissipation instead of the ocean, and he returned to this city a wiser if not a richer man. His troubles came about in this manner: He was walking up and down the beach breathing the climate like a real capitalist when a confidence man walked up to him, "and I thought he was a real nice real-estate man," as Smith puts it. "He asked me to take a walk with him, as he wanted to give me some points about a big sale that was to take place the next day. We walked down the beach until we came to a spot where four other real-estate looking men were carrying on a little game. One of the four was standing up with a little table before him, and he had three little shells on the table which he was moving around trying to cover a bean. He put one of the shells over the bean and said I could not pick out the one that covered the bean. I didn't want to do it, but the man with me whispered that they were only joking and insisted on my uncovering the bean. I did so, and the man at the table moved them around again and told me that I could have $100 if I would pick out the shell that covered the bean. I didn't want to try it, but my friend insisted, and as I had been feeling sick and dizzy all day I did it without knowing exactly what I was doing. He then told me that I could not have the $100 unless I would show a like sum. I put my hand in my pocket and pulled out about $110, when the man at the table grabbed it and they ran away, reported to the officers, and last night after I came back to Los Angeles an envelope containing $60 of my money was handed to me by the officers."

Capt. Darcey was the officer to whom Smith made his complaints. Darcey at once looked up the band whom he suspected, and told them that if the money was not returned to Smith, who claimed that it was all the money he had, they would be arrested and brought to Los Angeles. They denied all knowledge of the matter, but finally told Darcey that if he would call at a certain place in this city, on his arrival, he would find an envelope containing the money. As soon as the train arrived, Darcey went to the place indicated by the sharpers, and found an envelope addressed to Henry Smith, in the care of Darcey. The envelope was taken to Smith, at the St. Charles. He carefully counted his money, and closed the door without even thanking the officers for returning the money.

CATARRH!

THROAT DISEASES, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA,

CONSUMPTION,

Together with diseases of the

EYE, EAR AND HEART,

Successfully treated by

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D.,

M. C. P. S. O.,

No. 275 North Main Street,

A few doors south of the new postoffice, Los Angeles, Cal.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

This has been demonstrated in thousands of cases treated by

DR. WILLIAMS,

With his new system of Medicated Inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and yet he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, but must be prepared for each individual case as they severally require.

By the employment of proper inhalation in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharynx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but if impossible to do so can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address,

WHO IS THE LUCKY MAN?

THIS MEANS YOU.

Here is a Little Speculation that will discount anything in the Market.

Eighty-five acres of choice land, suitable for the successful growing of strawberries of the finest kind, as well as any small fruit or vegetables, in the town of Compton, less than one-half mile from the railroad depot, has been subdivided into sixteen tracts, of which fifteen contain five acres each and one ten acres; 65 acres of it in alfalfa. One of the five-acre tracts has a $2500 house, $500 barn, and the finest artesian well in the land, and is easily worth $4500.

Any one of the five-acre tracts can be so planted as to support any man and his family, and do it well.

These sixteen tracts will be distributed among the sixteen lucky purchasers of the sixteen tickets, now for sale.

Every purchaser gets more than the worth of his money, and, besides, there are

TWO GRAND PRIZES!

FIRST PRIZE—The tract with the house, barn and well, worth $4500.

SECOND PRIZE—The ten-acre lot, worth $2000.

Price of each chance, only $1000.

TERMS—$100 down. $400 on day of drawing, and $500 on March 1, 1888.

A portion of the stock will be offered for sale at $100 per share on WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22d, at the office of BYRAM & POINDEXTER, Los Angeles Bank building, on a basis of much less value than corresponding property can now be purchased for in the immediate vicinity, and on the most advantageous and following liberal terms:

20 per cent. in six months.
20 per cent. in twelve months.
